By Daniel Woolls, Associated Press

MADRID, Spain — Spanish police have arrested five young computer hackers who allegedly disabled Internet pages run by government agencies in the U.S., Latin America and Asia, authorities said Saturday.

The National Police described the suspects as belonging to one of the most active hacker groups on the Internet and said two of the suspects are only 16 years old. The others are 19 or 20.

WEB BASED TRACKING AND REPORTING

Santa Clarita's Graffiti Tracking System is a centralized, web-based application that allows multiple agencies to report graffiti. It provides a central location for all graffiti reports, making it easier for the public to report graffiti and for agencies to track and manage graffiti.

Graffiti Reporting

Name:

Telephone Number:

Email Address: (optional; for notification of clean up)

Photo Upload:
(if you would like to upload photos of the graffiti; jpg only)

Address of Graffiti: *
(use "@" for intersection) eg "100 Main St" or "1st @ Main" If graffiti is not at an address or intersection, please give the location nearest the graffiti.

Graffiti Marked On: * Property (eg: house, wall, bus bench, pole, driveway, sidewalk)
 Traffic Sign
 Road/Pavement
 Flood Control (eg: Flood channel, wash, stormdrain)

3 in 10 get all or most calls on cell phones

By ALAN FRAM – 3 days ago

WASHINGTON (AP) — For nearly three in 10 households, don't even bother trying to call them on a landline phone. They either only have a cell phone or seldom if ever take calls on their traditional phone.

The federal figures, released Wednesday, showed that reliance on cells is continuing to rise at the expense of wired telephones. In the second half of last year, 16 percent of households only had cell phones, while 13 percent also had landlines but got all or nearly all their calls on their cells.

The number of wireless-only households grew by 2 percent since the first half of last year. Underscoring the rapid growth, in early 2004 just 5 percent had only cell phones.

Households with cell phones who rarely if ever use their landlines grew by 1 percent since

NCTCOG's iCommunities Internet service combines our Internet and map technology with local government planning, economic development, and geographic information systems (GIS) resources. It transforms local government web sites into an information source that is both interactive and customizable to your users' needs. Integrating these existing technologies creates numerous possibilities. For example:

- allowing citizens to access and print full-page maps of their neighborhood with features such as zoning areas and parcel boundaries
- providing detailed information on economic development sites to worldwide clients
- providing city staff with access to your GIS assets through a web browser
- enhancing public announcements for zoning hearings or other city planning efforts with links to a web site with aerial photography and parcel boundaries

All of this technology flows seamlessly, powered by our DFWmaps.com Internet site to the member's website.

Top 5 Nuggets for Leading in Place

3

Be Clear on Intent

- ✓ Know the specifics of "As Is" vs. "To Be"
- ✓ How much, long, difficult? & what difference?
- ✓ Understand how things will be better when you are done (and how it fits with priorities)

4

Think about the next Platform

- ✓ Standardize, standardize, standardize
- ✓ Cost, management, security, performance

5

Steal Liberally

- ✓ You're organization is not that special
- ✓ Somebody else has probably already done it

Top 5 Nuggets for Leading in Place

1

Play your own position

- ✓ Be credible across, up & outside the org
- ✓ Staff will not be braver than you are

2

Seize the Disruptive Moment

- ✓ Focus on the breakthrough, not the incremental improvement
- ✓ Use technology to change the rules, cost structure, and the way the public's business gets done

A Subversively Helpful Approach to Government Modernization

Hello, My Name is Hunter

That's Hunter, as in both verb and noun. As a verb, I sneak around looking for the next great idea to steal. As a noun, I am named for the late Hunter S. Thompson, the father of all things Gonzo, under which it is better to ask for forgiveness than permission.

Go ahead, steal an idea... or as much loot as you and your unindicted co-conspirators can carry.
