

Powerful communications for Public Safety.

Rapid, interoperable communications for emergencies, drills and field exercises. Get it on the Now Network.™

In light of recent natural and man-made disasters, strategic and well tested emergency response plans are more important than ever. The safety and security of millions depends on the ability of local, state and federal public safety workers to communicate across agencies, jurisdictions and regions in some of the most hazardous environments.

Rapid Deployment Solutions (RDS) from Emergency Response Team (ERT) by Sprint provides critical communication and connectivity virtually anywhere, at anytime to government agencies, the military and the first responder community. Extend your agency communication infrastructure beyond brick and mortar environments with feature-rich applications such as Nextel Direct Connect®, location based services, situational awareness, messaging, Voice and Video over IP.
